Clinical Update: Launch of Dedicated Recurrent UTIs Clinic – Incorporating Uromune (MV140) Immunotherapy

Dr Wenjie Zhong is pleased to announce the launch of a dedicated Recurrent UTIs Clinic, now available at his consulting rooms across Sydney, including St George Private Hospital.

Recurrent urinary tract infections (UTIs) remain one of the most common and distressing urological conditions, often leading to repeated antibiotic exposure, resistant infections, and a significant impact on quality of life. The new clinic offers a comprehensive, evidence-based approach to the assessment, prevention, and long-term management of recurrent UTIs.

The clinic provides:

- Comprehensive evaluation of urinary tract anatomy and bladder/pelvic-floor function.
- Investigation of contributing factors such as incomplete emptying and bacterial colonisation.
- Behavioural and non-antibiotic preventive strategies.
- Access to advanced mucosal immunotherapy with Uromune (MV140).

Uromune (MV140) is a sublingual bacterial immunotherapy that enhances both mucosal and systemic immune responses, providing long-term protection and significantly reducing antibiotic use. International studies show substantial reductions in recurrence and improved patient outcomes.

With a strong interest in functional and infectious urology, Dr Zhong provides individualised, patient-centred care supported by the latest clinical evidence and treatment innovations. Referrals are now welcome for patients requiring assessment or management of recurrent or chronic urinary tract infections.
